GENESIS & EVOLUTION: UNIVERSITY OF RAJASTHAN

On the 8th of January 1947, the University of Rajputana appeared as a nascent star on the educational horizon of pre-independent India. The efforts for a separate University for the Rajputana State were initiated as early as 1921 when the Act for the Allahabad University was passed. The Act prescribed for separation of Intermediate classes from the Degree classes as a condition for affiliation, which meant more expenditure for the then colleges at Jaipur, Jodhpur and Ajmer, the only colleges then imparting University education and affiliated to Allahabad University. The location of the University became a controversial issue. The question was considered in all its aspects at a meeting called by the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana and attended by the ruling Princes and Chiefs at Mt. Abu on 20 June 1924.

After a gap of nearly two decades, the efforts were again initiated in 1942 by Sir Mirza Ismail, the then Prime Minister of Jaipur, who appointed J.C. Rollo as Special Education Officer for this purpose. Sir Mirza Ismail and his successor in office Sir V.T. Krishnamachari took the initiative of holding talks with the representatives of Udaipur, Jodhpur, Bikaner, Alwar, and Jaipur in December 1946. They agreed to the establishment of a University at Jaipur and on January 8, 1947, legislation was promulgated and the colleges in the State formally federated into the University of Rajputana, which came into existence in July the same year.

Dr. G. S. Mahajani, Principal of Ferguson College, Poona (now Pune), was appointed the first Vice-Chancellor of the University and was an ideal person in many respects. He was a member of the Servants of India Society and was elected as a fellow of prominent institutions such as the National Academy of Sciences, India, and the Cambridge Philosophical Society at St John's College, Cambridge.

The University was allocated an annual grant of Rs.2.5 lacs by the participating States of Rajputana. The remarkable thing is that the States made it clear that the "acceptance of the grant will in no way detract from the autonomy of the University and its freedom to organise its teaching and administration as to embody in them the highest conception of University life."

Shri C. Rajagopalachari, the first Governor General of free India, had a very clear idea of the importance of the universities and their dignity. Addressing the students of Loyola College, Madras in August 1948, he advocated "we have to maintain the highest standards for our universities. The pressure of democracy may be allowed to bear on anything else, but not on the standard of education."

The foundation stone of the University Campus was laid by Shri C. Rajagopalachari on February 20, 1949. He concluded his address with the words: "Nothing can be achieved unless we learn to be good and correct and self-disciplined and cultivate self-restraint and that, which is called dharma in our beautiful language."

The jurisdiction of this University at that time extended over the entire Rajputana State with the exception of Ajmer-Merwara. In the beginning, it was only an affiliating University with twenty-two colleges in different parts of the state.

The University of Rajasthan has acquired the status of University with Potential for Excellence. Over the years, the University has redefined itself by meeting the challenges of changing trends in the educational system and has made a significant contribution in the field of higher education.

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

Prof. Rajeev Jain

It gives me immense pleasure to welcome you to University of Rajasthan, the pioneering Institute of higher education in Rajasthan that was established in 1947, the year India gained independence. The tradition of academic excellence was reinforced when the University was accorded the status of "University with Potential for Excellence" in 2011 by UGC, and accredited with A+ rating by NAAC. A number of grants received under the Rashtriya Uchchar Shiksha Abhiyan (RUSA) are being used to further develop the infrastructure, strengthen research and initiate innovation. The University has entered into MoU with reputed foreign universities to facilitate academic exchange programmes and provide our students the opportunity of transnational exposure. A dedicated team of qualified faculty ensures excellence in academics and an efficient non-teaching staff caters to office related requirements. The inclusive and multicultural ethos of the institution is strengthened by the presence of students from different parts of Rajasthan, other States and abroad.

The University offers a wide range of courses keeping in view the aspirations of the students and contemporary job market. The Central Library provides round the clock access to e-journals along with a rich collection of literature pertaining to every field of study offered by the University, and more. The Placement Cell, Counseling Cell, Language Labs and Smart classrooms serve to reinforce student friendly and progressive environment. Hostels are there for students who are not residents of Jaipur. To ensure holistic development, due emphasis is laid on student participation in co curricular and cultural activities. Well equipped sports facilities and coaching is available for interested students. Over the years, our University has produced artists and sports persons of national and international repute.

Heritage building, picturesque backdrop of Aravalli hills, gardens and sports grounds enhance the ambience of University campus. Constituent Colleges with attractive independent campus and hostel facility play a significant role in contributing to the rich tradition of University of Rajasthan. The University promotes and upholds ethical value system and discipline. I wish the students for their success in all future endeavors.

FINANCE AT A GLANCE

A. Institutional Funds & Optimal Utilization of Resources (Other than salary and fees)

The University of Rajasthan (UoR) implements a well-structured strategy for mobilizing funds, ensuring optimal utilization of resources to support academic, research, and infrastructural needs. This approach is anchored in diversified funding avenues, financial planning, and effective management of resources.

Regular Source of Income: Primary sources of revenue generation for UoR include:

- Examination and Course Fees: Substantial income is generated through examination fees and course fees for degree, diploma, and certificate courses and self-financing courses.
- Affiliation Fees from Colleges: Fees from affiliated colleges contribute to the University's financial base.
- Income from Certificates and Revaluation: Income is also derived from issuing migration and provisional certificates, and from the revaluation of answer books.
- Hostel and Non-Teaching Departments: Revenues are generated from hostel services and various non-teaching departments.
- Miscellaneous Receipts: Additional funds come from garden income, sale of forms, recovery and various other sources.
- Government Grants: UoR receives substantial grants from the State Government, along with specific funding from the central government agencies.

Financial Grants for Research Innovation and Development-

The University has been the recipient of numerous significant grants aimed at enhancing research, infrastructure, and academic quality:

- Rashtriya Uchchatar Shiksha Abhiyan (RUSA): The Ministry of Human Resource Development (MHRD) and the Government of Rajasthan have approved multiple grants under the RUSA program. Notably, UoR received Rs. 35.00 Crores for research innovation and Rs. 7.00 Crores for the Faculty Improvement Programme.
- United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF): A grant of Rs. 22.89 Lakhs was awarded to the State Centre of Excellence for Nutrition within the University's Department of Home Science.
- Biotechnology Industry Research Assistance Council (BIRAC): Financial support of Rs. 2.2 Crores was provided for establishing a University Innovation Cluster in Biotechnology at the Centre for Converging Technologies.
- Centre for Excellence in Nanotechnology: The state government, through DST, Rajasthan, allocated Rs. 13 Crores for this initiative, enhancing UoR's research capabilities in nanotechnology.
- University with Potential for Excellence (UPE): UoR was recognized among the top 15 Indian universities with potential for excellence, receiving a grant of Rs. 50 Crores from the UGC to bolster academic and research activities.
- UGC, ICSSR, DST, DBT, ICAR, CSIR, IUAC, NCW etc. also provided project-specific grants to UoR.

Financial Management and Resource Utilization

The financial management system at University is designed to ensure the efficient and transparent utilization of funds. The Finance Committee, led by the Vice-Chancellor, plays a crucial role in examining budget estimates, reviewing accounts, and advising on financial matters. The University follows a rigorous budgeting process, where a committee of senior faculty prepares budget estimates based on departmental needs. The Finance Committee scrutinizes these estimates, ensuring they align with the University's strategic objectives.

University of Rajasthan adheres to a detailed accounts manual that outlines rules for expenditure, ensuring transparency and efficiency. Funds are allocated to various heads, including salaries, examination expenses, maintenance, and research grants, all monitored through a centralized system to prevent overspending.

Through a strategic approach to fund mobilization and resource management, UoR continues to support its mission of academic excellence, research innovation, and infrastructural development.

The institution regularly conducts Internal and External Financial Audits

The University of Rajasthan has a robust financial auditing system in place to ensure transparency, accountability, and compliance with financial regulations. The university conducts both internal and external audits to maintain accurate financial records and ensure proper utilization of resources across its operations.

The budget of the University is prepared in accordance with the provisions outlined in Volume 3, Chapter 48, Ordinance 385 and 385A, with audits conducted under various heads, including the maintenance budget, income and expenditure of constituent colleges, specific activities, and accounts related to sponsored projects sanctioned by funding agencies like UGC, MHRD, SAP, DST, and ICSSR.

The internal audit system at the university is overseen by an Audit Cell, comprised of permanently deputed accounts service employees from the Government of Rajasthan. This cell ensures that the financial processes across constituent colleges and departments comply with regulatory guidelines and that any discrepancies are promptly addressed. A separate cell also ensures compliance with audit reports from the Accountant General (AG) and the Local Fund Audit Department (LFAD).

Several types of Audits are conducted at the University of Rajasthan to ensure that financial transactions are transparent and properly documented:

- i. CA Audit: A team of chartered accountants is hired to conduct internal audits, prepare annual accounts, and file GST and income tax returns.
- ii. Internal Audit: A team of auditors deputed by the state government under the supervision of the university's Financial Advisor conducts audits of all university units. This team reviews all financial transactions to ensure compliance and accuracy.
- iii. AG Audit: The audit team from the Accountant General's office visits the university annually to audit its financial accounts and other related matters.
- iv. LFAD Audit: The Local Fund Audit Department, Government of Rajasthan, conducts an annual audit of the financial accounts of the university's colleges and departments.

Additionally, the university has a strong external audit mechanism. Each payment is subject to pre-audit by a resident government auditor, ensuring that no payment is processed without prior verification. The utilization certificates for grants received from various funding agencies are certified by an authorized audit officer. Any objections raised during the audit are addressed before payments are finalized, ensuring timely resolution of financial discrepancies.

To resolve audit objections, the university has a mechanism in place where the concerned units provide the necessary documents and explanations to settle any discrepancies. Regular communication between the departments and the audit teams ensures that audit reports are promptly addressed and any issues are rectified in compliance with regulations.

Overall, the University of Rajasthan's audit process involves multiple layers of checks and balances, including internal audits by government-deputed auditors, external audits by AG and LFAD teams, and pre-audit processes to ensure transparency. This comprehensive auditing system ensures that all financial transactions are thoroughly reviewed, compliant with regulations, and properly documented, fostering financial accountability and integrity within the university.

Green & Clean Drive: Nurturing a Sustainable Future

The University of Rajasthan is not just an initiative to plant trees; it's a movement toward fostering a conscious culture among students, faculty, and the community. By integrating environmental responsibility into the university's values, this drive aims to create a lasting impact on both the environment and the minds of future generations.

Objectives of the Drive: The primary objective of the Green Drive is to enhance the green cover on the sprawling university campus. This effort involves the plantation of native trees and plants that are well-adapted to the arid climate of Rajasthan. By focusing on indigenous species, the initiative ensures that the newly planted saplings thrive, contributing to biodiversity and creating a healthy ecosystem. Beyond tree plantations, the Green Drive aims to raise awareness about the importance of sustainability. Workshops, seminars, and eco-awareness campaigns are organized alongside the drive, educating students about the pressing environmental challenges of today, such as climate change, deforestation, and pollution. Through these educational efforts, the drive encourages individuals to adopt sustainable habits in their daily lives.

Sustaining Greenery in the University of Rajasthan

The University of Rajasthan has been actively involved in several initiatives and projects to promote greenery and environmental sustainability on its campus. These efforts not only enhance the aesthetic appeal of the university but also contribute to ecological balance and sustainability. University of Rajasthan regularly organizes large-scale tree plantation drives as part of its commitment to environmental sustainability. Various native trees, shrubs, and plants are planted across the campus to increase green cover and improve air quality. These drives often involve the active participation of students, faculty, and local organizations.

Botanical Garden: The University of Rajasthan boasts a well-maintained botanical garden that serves as an important resource for both research and education. The garden hosts a wide variety of plant species, including medicinal plants, ornamental plants, and rare native species. It acts as a living laboratory for botany students and researchers, while also enhancing the biodiversity of the campus.

Rainwater Harvesting and Irrigation Systems: To maintain the greenery on campus and ensure water conservation, the University of Rajasthan has implemented rainwater harvesting systems. These systems help in recharging groundwater and provide an eco-friendly irrigation solution to sustain the university's green areas.

Sustainable Energy Consumption:

- a. Solar Energy: The importance of energy efficiency and conservation in the University was realized, so An MOU was signed under the Smart City Project to install solar power panels at 7 different locations. A total of 950 KW of electricity is being produced.
- b. LED Bulbs: Wastage and profligacy of energy are prevented by the use of LED bulbs and pasting stickers like "Save electricity", and "Switch off lights/fans when not in use" in the classrooms, hostels, seminar halls, administrative block, etc.
- c. Solar Water Heater: One hundred solar water heaters installed in the boys' and girls' hostels are being efficiently maintained every year. Installation of solar water heaters has proved to be an efficient way to meet the everyday requirements of the students without incurring any fuel costs.

Green Building Practices: Several new constructions and renovations within the university are designed with eco-friendly practices in mind. The incorporation of green building principles, such as using energy-efficient materials and ensuring natural ventilation, contributes to the campus's overall sustainability efforts.

Composting and Organic Waste Management: In alignment with its green initiatives, the University of Rajasthan has facilitated composting methods to manage organic waste generated on campus with the help of various departments. Which joined hands. The compost is used to nourish the university's gardens, reducing the need for chemical fertilizers and promoting sustainable waste management practices.

Collaboration with Environmental Organizations: The University collaborates with local NGOs and environmental groups to promote awareness about environmental issues and sustain its green initiatives. These collaborations often involve joint efforts in tree plantation, awareness campaigns, and educational workshops related to environmental conservation.

Student Involvement in Sustainability Programs: Students at the University of Rajasthan are actively encouraged to take part in green initiatives. Many environmental clubs and societies organize awareness drives, eco-friendly campaigns, and projects aimed at promoting a greener campus. This involvement Student Involvement in Sustainability Programs.

B. University Garden and Nursery

The nursery, situated on an expansive 4-bigha plot, serves as a vibrant and flourishing centre for horticulture. This well-established facility is renowned for its extensive collection of both decorative and shade plants, encompassing a diverse range of approximately 100 to 150 species. To support its operations, the nursery is equipped with essential infrastructure designed to ensure smooth functioning and efficient management. The facility relies on two borewells, two water tanks, and a well to maintain adequate irrigation. This robust water management system is crucial for sustaining the health and vitality of the extensive plant collection. The nursery also includes three office rooms and two storage rooms. A guard room is also strategically placed on the premises, providing round-the-clock surveillance and protection

The nursery is not only a centre of horticultural excellence but also an economically significant enterprise. Its annual income ranges from 5 to 8 lakh rupees, reflecting its role as a major player in the local plant market. By offering a wide array of plants at competitive prices, the nursery maintains an extensive and cost-effective inventory, making it an attractive destination for plant buyers and enthusiasts.

One of the highlights of the nursery's annual calendar is its prestigious chrysanthemum exhibition. This highly anticipated event, held once a year, garners considerable attention from the community and beyond. It is graced by distinguished guests, including the Governor, Ministers, and the Vice Chancellor, who often serve as the chief guest. The exhibition showcases the nursery's commitment to horticultural excellence and its role in promoting plant cultivation and appreciation within the campus, enhancing its reputation as a hub of botanical innovation and community engagement.

C. AANANDAM PROGRAMME

The "Anandam" program has been introduced in the University of Rajasthan as a compulsory subject in the curriculum of all UG/PG degree courses of annual and semester scheme from academic session 2020-21 onwards. NEP also emphasized the Anandam program aiming to sensitize the students towards challenges and issues prevalent today in society and to instill the joy of giving in young people turning them into responsible citizens who will build a meaningful future for a better nation. The course has been implemented in all University teaching departments/centres, constituent colleges and affiliated colleges of the University of Rajasthan to make students aware of their role and responsibilities towards society. The course is part of the curriculum in each year. Anandam Program has been a part of the time table with 30 minutes/day slot each day. During the year/semester, students are required to engage in individual and group community service activities by recording daily one act of goodness and undertaking community service projects as a group activity. USIC: UNIVERSITY SCIENCE INSTRUMENTATION CENTRE

The University Science Instrumentation Centre (USIC) at the University of Rajasthan, established in the late 1970s with initial support from the University Grants Commission (UGC), plays a crucial role in academic and industrial research by providing advanced instrumentation facilities. The Centre's primary objectives are to house high-end research instruments and offer specialized instrumentation services for spectral, thermal, chemical, and microstructural analysis. It supports internal and external researchers, including faculty, scholars, and students, with critical tools for scientific research.

The USIC is equipped with sophisticated instruments such as SQUID, SEM, TEM, GC Mass spectrometer, LC Mass spectrometer, and FTIR spectrometer. These instruments cater to the needs of University Science Departments and other institutions for research in areas like cancer research, virology, nanotechnology, and biotechnology. They are also available for future use by industry.

The Centre is dedicated to enhancing the quality of scientific publications and promoting experimental research. Its thrust areas include nanomaterial characterization and the magnetization of Nano and bulk materials. USIC's infrastructure features major research facilities.

Vision

Scientific instruments may be usefully regarded as the capital goods of scientific research. That is to say, the conduct of scientific research generally requires some antecedent investment in specific equipment to enhance the ability to observe and measure specific categories of natural phenomena. In due course of time, UOR-USIC may play its role in enhancing quality publications and also encourage more people to go for experimental research for practical applications.

The department has been successful in organizing and implementing various programs to bring these sections into the mainstream, addressing issues such as HIV/AIDS, environment conservation, e-learning, sanitation, and entrepreneurship development. DLL also develops teaching, learning, instructional, training, and promotional material to provide academic/technical support to different programs. DLL has engaged in conducting English language teaching classes in rural areas, government schools, and urban slums for the needy and poor, as well as e-learning for senior citizens and deprived sections of society. Collaboration and support for various activities and programs are solicited from university departments, colleges, NGOs, and resource centers of the National Literacy Mission Authority.

Thrust Areas: Capacity building. Leadership skills, personality development, stress management, career counseling, and guidance program for youth.

STUDY CENTRES

CENTRE FOR JAIN STUDIES

On the auspicious occasion of Lord Mahaveer's 2500th Nirvana Mahotsava, the Centre for Jain Studies was established in 1974 and a Chair was founded for promoting research work in Jainism. The Centre has a missionary zeal to sponsor and promote research in Jain Studies and other aspects of Comparative Religions and Culture.

At the time of the establishment of the Centre the University had taken a decision that Jainology be treated more as an area of research and the main purpose for establishing the chair should be to encourage the study of Jain religion and ethics in the related departments i.e. Sanskrit, Hindi, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology, Political Science, Public Administration and History, already existing in the University, and conduct and direct research in the field of Jainology.

To attract the diversified Jainological studies the University also accommodated the study of source material, ideas, thoughts, literature and history of Jainism to be studied as special papers in the regular courses of the Department of the Sanskrit, Philosophy and History with the co-operation and guidance of the person occupying the chair in Jainology. In view of this decision the PG classes in Jain Studies are being taken with PG departments of History, Sanskrit and Philosophy of the University and the faculty of the Centre has been associated with them ever since the establishment of the Centre.

b. Infonet Centre

The Infonet Centre at the University of Rajasthan is the technical backbone, managing the Campus Wide Area Network, Wi-Fi Network, website maintenance, mail servers, result servers, and research servers. It plays a crucial role in providing access to digital resources and advancing the university's technology infrastructure using open-source software and the Linux-Apache-MySQL/Perl/PHP (LAMP) platform. The Centre collaborates with the Campus Wide Area Network (CWAN), known as RUN (Rajasthan University Network), which uses Gigabit Ethernet Technology with Optical Fiber Backbone for high-speed connectivity across the campus, and the National Knowledge Network (NKN), which offers ultra-high-speed internet to institutions across India. The Centre ensures compliance with NKN policies to support advanced studies and research. Its goal is to enhance academic excellence and facilitate knowledge dissemination, aiming for seamless access to resources and enriched academic experiences. Best practices include in-house web application development and maintenance, continuous improvement of applications, and securing services with SSL and TLS encryption. The Centre's infrastructure features Blade Servers and SAN solutions for data management, modern networking with RUN and NKN, and facilities for academic functions like video conferencing.

Director: Prof. S.K. Gupta

Dy. Director: Dr. Dalpat Meena

University Web Servers

One of the core features of Infonet Centre's services is that all of its websites are SSL and TLS enabled. SSL stands for Secure Sockets Layer, while TLS stands for Transport Layer Security. Both protocols are used to encrypt data that is transmitted over the internet, providing an extra layer of security against hackers and other cyber threats. SSL and TLS are widely used across the internet, and they have become the de facto standard for securing web traffic. Infonet Centre's SSL and TLS-enabled websites ensure that all data transmitted between the user and the server is encrypted, providing a secure connection that is resistant to eavesdropping and tampering. The university provides many online services:

The Institutional Perspective Plan aims to align the university's strategic goals with the recommendations from the NAAC peer team and other regulatory bodies. The plan emphasizes academic excellence, research and innovation, strengthening physical and digital infrastructure, student support and career development, environmental sustainability, and community engagement.

Major Thrust Areas:

- 1. Academic Excellence: The university remains committed to maintaining its status as a leader in higher education in Rajasthan by continuously updating curricula, introducing new interdisciplinary courses, and modernizing teaching methodologies. Academic audits will ensure quality control, while faculty recruitment will address the student-teacher ratio challenge. 2. Research and Innovation: Enhancing the university's research capacity is a primary objective. The focus will be on increasing high-impact research publications, securing funded research projects, and promoting innovation ecosystems through incubation centers and startups. Collaboration with national and international institutes will also be prioritized to position the university as a center for cutting-edge research.
3. Strengthening Physical and Digital Infrastructure: The plan includes significant investments in new physical infrastructure, including the construction of laboratories, hostels, academic units, and staff quarters. Existing facilities will undergo renovation and maintenance, and the university aims for complete digitization of its examination system. This will not only improve efficiency but also ensure transparency. A focus on sports and recreational facilities will support holistic student development.
