GENESIS & EVOLUTION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF RAJASTHAN

On the 8th of January 1947, the University of Rajputana appeared as a nascent star on the educational horizon of pre-independent India. The efforts for a separate University for the Rajputana State were initiated as early as 1921 when the Act for the Allahabad University was passed. The Act prescribed for separation of Intermediate classes from the Degree classes as a condition for affiliation, which meant more expenditure for the then colleges at Jaipur, Jodhpur and Ajmer, the only colleges then imparting University education and affiliated to Allahabad University. The location of the University became a controversial issue. The question was considered in all its aspects at a meeting called by the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana and attended by the ruling Princes and Chiefs at Mt. Abu on 20 June 1924.

After a gap of nearly two decades, the efforts were again initiated in 1942 by Sir Mirza Ismail, the then Prime Minister of Jaipur, who appointed J.C. Rollo as Special Education Officer for this purpose. Sir Mirza Ismail and his successor in office Sir V.T. Krishnamachari took the initiative of holding talks with the representatives of Udaipur, Jodhpur, Bikaner, Alwar, and Jaipur in December 1946. They agreed to the establishment of a University at Jaipur and on January 8, 1947, legislation was promulgated and the colleges in the State formally federated into the University of Rajputana, which came into existence in July the same year.

Dr. G. S. Mahajani, Principal of Ferguson College, Poona (now Pune), was appointed the first Vice-Chancellor of the University and was an ideal person in many respects. He was a member of the Servants of India Society and was elected as a fellow of prominent institutions such as the National Academy of Sciences, India, and the Cambridge Philosophical Society at St John's College, Cambridge. The University was allocated an annual grant of Rs.2.5 lacs by the participating States of Rajputana. The remarkable thing is that the States made it clear that the "acceptance of the grant will in no way detract from the autonomy of the University and its freedom to organise its teaching and administration as to embody in them the highest conception of University life." Shri C. Rajagopalachari, the first Governor General of free India, had a very clear idea of the importance of the universities and their dignity. Addressing the students of Loyola College, Madras in August 1948, he advocated, "We have to maintain the highest standards for our universities. The pressure of democracy may be allowed to bear on anything else, but not on the standard of education."

The foundation stone of the University Campus was laid by Shri C. Rajagopalachari on February 20, 1949. He concluded his address with the words: "Nothing can be achieved unless we learn to be good and correct and self-disciplined and cultivate self-restraint and that, which is called dharma in our beautiful language."

The jurisdiction of this University at that time extended over the entire Rajputana State with the exception of Ajmer-Merwara. In the beginning, it was only an affiliating University with twenty-two colleges in different parts of the state. The University of Rajasthan has acquired the status of University with Potential for Excellence. Over the years, the University has redefined itself by meeting the challenges of changing trends in the educational system and has made a significant contribution to the field of higher education.

IMPLEMENTATION OF NEP IN UNIVERSITY OF RAJASTHAN

In the academic session 2023-24, the University adopted the Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) for all UG programmes, promoting flexibility and interdisciplinary learning. A new curriculum framework has been introduced (https://www.uniraj.ac.in/circular/notice/28164_27.06.2023.pdf) which includes major and minor courses from different faculties, Ability Enhancement Courses (AEC), Skill Enhancement Courses (SEC), and Value-Added Courses (VAC), designed to broaden the academic scope and develop critical skills. (<https://uniraj.ac.in/index.php?mid=3103>), Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) already exists in PG programmes. The introduction of diverse programs across faculties, including specialized ones in Fashion Design and Communication Design, highlight the commitment of the university to multidisciplinary education, preparing students for a complex world.

To integrate Humanities and Sciences, the university offers interdisciplinary courses. For instance, a student of B.A. can choose Major from both Social Science and Science faculties, and a B.Sc. student can select courses from the Social Science faculty. Engineering and Technology programs now include Humanities, Environmental Studies, and Social Sciences. The Faculty of Law also integrates CBCS and a semester system to include interdisciplinary elements in legal education. The compulsory environmental science course for undergraduates, focusing on sustainability and practical environmental practices till 2023 has been shifted to Value added Course under NEP-2020 in the academic session 2023-24.

Flexibility in the curriculum is emphasized with options for major and minor stream courses and additional credits through value-added courses like Aanandam, Environmental Studies, NCC, NSS, and Indian Value Systems. Community engagement is promoted through courses like Aanandam, involving group projects and experiential learning. Multidisciplinary courses such as Computer Basics & Office Management Tools and Textile Studies are also offered to the students.

The NEP-2020 framework introduces a flexible curriculum with multiple entry and exit points. Students can exit after the first, second, or third year with a UG Certificate or Diploma, and re-enter to complete their degree within seven years. A four-year program offers a UG Degree (Honours) or an Honours Degree with Research for those interested in research is also in place.

- Academic Bank of Credits (ABC): The University of Rajasthan has actively embraced the Academic Bank of Credits (ABC) initiative, integral to NEP 2020, by aligning with the National Credit Framework (NCrF). It has registered 467,062 ABCIDs for students and uploaded 78,979 marksheets to the digital repository. Undergraduate results from the 2023 first semester across the Faculties of Arts, Commerce, Social Science, and Science are now part of the ABC platform, showcasing the university's commitment to flexible and accessible education pathways.
- The University is registered with Digi Locker NAD (ID-NAD016490) for ABC, which allows student credentials to be uploaded in a prescribed format, ensuring secure and convenient access to academic records. This integration supports the flexibility of multiple entries and exits during the chosen program, enhancing accessibility and reducing bureaucratic hurdles.
- Digi Locker integration simplifies verification processes for employers and educational institutions, promoting the authenticity of credentials. It enhances transparency, efficiency, and security in managing academic records while minimizing fraud and document forgery. Additionally, it aligns with digital transformation trends by supporting a paperless, eco-friendly approach to education.
- The University of Rajasthan bridges the gap between industry and academia by incorporating both theoretical and practical elements into its curriculum. This integration emphasizes both global and domestic professional development.
- The University fosters international collaboration through strategic partnerships, such as MOU with Jean Moulin University, Lyon 3, France, first signed in 2013 and thereafter renewed on regular basis; Aix Marseilles University, France, La Sapienza, Rome. The MOUs with French University have enabled MA French students from the Department of European Languages, Literature and Culture Studies to participate in the International Student Exchange Programme, and pursuing studies for one/two semester at Jean Moulin and Aix Marseilles University. These efforts advance the internationalization of education and facilitate credit transfer. The University is also gearing towards joint degree programmes. The rules for the same have been passed in the Academic Council held in August 2024.

Faculty members at the University of Rajasthan are encouraged to design their curricular and pedagogical approaches within an approved framework. Course-related committees work together to create, modify, and propose syllabuses, which are then approved by the respective Boards of Studies. Faculty members encourage a student-centred approach, prioritizing active engagement and participation over passive learning.

Additionally, workshops, lectures are organized on creating awareness about NEP-2020, Digi Locker and ABC. A one-day workshop was organized under the joint aegis of UGC-MMTTC, IQAC, UoR and Higher Education Department, Government of Rajasthan, and in collaboration with National e-Governance Division, MEITY, Government of India on 1st July 2024. This workshop was aimed to boost awareness and facilitate the implementation of the ABC system in state-funded universities.

The University of Rajasthan emphasizes skill development and practical experience through a robust vocational education framework, in alignment with the National Skills Qualifications Framework (NSQF) and NEP 2020. Students are required to earn 10 credits from skill enhancement courses such as computer programming, cyber-security, data science, financial literacy, and event management, reflecting the university's focus on job readiness. The curriculum offers flexibility with options for single and double major, along with multiple entry and exit points, allowing students to change their major after the second semester.

Vocational courses are integrated into mainstream education, enhancing employability through partnerships with organizations like RCAT and the Dola Foundation, offering skill enhancement programs. Activities such as campus clean-ups, field trips, and internships with organizations like RBI and CSIR are integrated to combine practical learning with environmental awareness.

The academic structure is divided into two semesters per year, with an additional eight-week summer term dedicated to internships, apprenticeships, and work-based training, particularly for students aiming to exit after two or four semesters.

The curriculum includes a Value-Added course (2 credits), like Aanandam, NCC, NSS, the Indian Value System, and Nutrition for Health & Fitness, focusing on holistic student development. Aanandam is a unique credit course teaching the values of compassion, dharma, ahimsa, brotherhood, Joy of Giving. All the students have to enrol for this course and maintain a diary. From the current session, a course on Electoral Literacy has been introduced which aims to teach constitutional values and rights of citizens.

- To ensure that all students take at least one vocational course before graduating, the university has designed a credit structure where students must earn 150 credits to graduate, including 4 credits from vocational courses or internships, 10 credits from skill enhancement courses, 8 credits from value-added courses and 12 credits from multidisciplinary courses.
- The University actively engages industry veterans and master craftsmen to bridge gaps in vocational training, establishing partnerships with industry leaders, government, and NGOs through MoUs <https://www.uniraj.ac.in/index.php?mid=113>. These collaborations offer training, internships, and employability enhancement opportunities.
- The University's commitment to skill development is further demonstrated through the Incubation Centre, Placement Cell, Career Counselling Cell, and Centre for Entrepreneurship and Skill Development <https://esd.uniraj.ac.in/>. These entities work together to enhance employability, align with NEP 2020, and address local, regional, national, and global needs.
- The curriculum also incorporates state-specific content, such as Rajasthan's history, languages, and culture, while integrating major national initiatives like Skill India, Make in India, Digital India, Swachh Bharat Abhiyan, and Unnat Bharat Abhiyan.

These efforts ensure that the University of Rajasthan remains at the forefront of vocational education and skill development, preparing students for the demands of the modern workforce and contributing to national development.

OUTCOME BASED EDUCATION (OBE):

The University of Rajasthan has adapted its curriculum to align with Outcome-Based Education (OBE) to meet the evolving needs of higher education. Undergraduate (UG) and Postgraduate (PG) syllabuses are meticulously designed to focus on learning outcomes, ensuring alignment with market, industry, and governmental standards. The University of Rajasthan captures Outcome-Based Education (OBE) in teaching and learning practices through a structured approach that aligns educational practices with predefined outcomes.

The University's approach to OBE aims to enhance both professional development and global readiness by bridging the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical skills. The curriculum includes discipline-specific, Ability Enhancement, Skill Enhancement, and value-added courses, all designed with clear Programme Outcomes (POs), Programme Specific Outcomes (PSOs), and Course Outcomes (COs). The courses foster a learner-oriented approach, supporting lifelong learning and employability, and integrate feedback from stakeholders to align with national initiatives like Skill India and Digital India.

The syllabus of each programme, including course content and outcomes, is approved by respective Boards of Studies and made available on the university website for transparency. A range of assessment methods, including exams, quizzes, projects, presentations, laboratory work, and internships, are employed to measure the achievement of POs, PSOs, and COs.

Comprehensive evaluation mechanisms are in place, including continuous assessment strategies, such as mid-term exams, projects, seminars, and assignments, which are used to track student progress throughout the semester. Clear evaluation criteria ensure students acquire comprehensive subject knowledge, critical thinking skills, and professional readiness. End-of-semester exams include comprehensive written tests covering the entire syllabus, ensuring thorough evaluation of student understanding.

Faculty development is emphasized, with regular workshops, orientation programs, and refresher courses designed to enhance pedagogical skills and ensure effective content delivery. Curricula are regularly updated by each department's Board of Studies, based on stakeholder feedback and competitive exam requirements, ensuring relevance to industry and academic standards. The success of students in national examinations like NET and GATE demonstrates the effectiveness of these OBE-aligned teaching and learning practices.

The University of Rajasthan implements several good practices in Outcome-Based Education (OBE). Each semester begins with an orientation program for students, clearly outlining the expected outcomes of their courses, helping them understand their learning objectives. The detailed syllabus is available on the university website <https://www.uniraj.ac.in/index.php?mid=3102>. They include learning outcomes, recommended readings, course content, and lecture hours, ensuring transparency and clarity for students.

The curriculum has been designed to address local, regional, national, and global needs, aligning with the institution's commitment to adding value and addressing the knowledge economy.

Stringent admission criteria and support services are in place to attract and retain high-quality students, with postgraduate and doctoral admissions conducted via university entrance exams adhering to UGC guidelines.

The University's commitment to OBE through these practices enhances its reputation as a forward-thinking institution aligned with NEP 2020 principles.

- The University's Learning Management System (LMS) at <https://lms.uniraj.edu.in/> is central to this effort, facilitating effective teaching and learning by incorporating lecture capture systems and course management tools. The LMS allows students to engage in vocational and modular courses with flexibility, making it easier for them to balance their studies with other commitments. Faculty are encouraged to create e-content with support from in-house facilities, enabling the development of lecture videos and other digital materials.
- ICT platforms are being leveraged to enrich teaching and learning experiences, supporting comprehensive remote learning through an upgraded digital library infrastructure. The library offers remote access to a wealth of e-resources, including online databases, e-journals, and digital repositories, which are essential for research and academic success.

- Platforms like e-Shodh Sindhu (eSS) and the Dr. B R Ambedkar Library <https://www.uniraj.ac.in/CentralLib/index.html> provide expanded access to these e-resources, supporting a wide range of academic and vocational programs.
- The university's library is equipped with automated OPAC Library Management Software and offers extensive e-resources, including e-books and e-journals, accessible through an IP-based network. <https://www.uniraj.ac.in/CentralLib/index.html>
- The University has approved credit accumulation from Swayam, MOOCs and DOCC programs, broadening the educational opportunities of its students and enhancing their global competence. Undergraduate programs allow students to earn up to 40% of credits through online courses approved by the institution, supporting multiple entries and exits as per UGC regulations.
- Faculty members benefit from resources such as SWAYAM and e-PG Pathshala, which provide high-quality, curriculum-based e-content across various postgraduate disciplines. They are also being encouraged to offer courses on these platforms.
- The university is committed to multidisciplinary research through a comprehensive policy that emphasizes the convergence of various fields. NEP 2020 alignment includes Apprenticeship-Enabled Degree Programs (AEDP), offering practical industry experience. Collaboration with external institutions and platforms like RUBIC, Design and Innovation Cluster (DIC), and E-YUVA supports innovation and entrepreneurship.

FINANCE AT A GLANCE

A. Institutional Funds & Optimal Utilization of Resources (Other than salary and fees)

The University of Rajasthan implements a well-structured strategy for mobilizing funds, ensuring optimal utilization of resources to support academic, research, and infrastructural needs. This approach is anchored in diversified funding avenues, financial planning, and effective management of resources.

Regular Source of Income: Primary sources of revenue generation for The University include:

- Examination and Course Fees: Substantial income is generated through examination fees and course fees for degree, diploma, and certificate courses and self-financing courses.
- Affiliation Fees from Colleges: Fees from affiliated colleges contribute to the University's financial base.
- Income from Certificates and Revaluation: Income is also derived from issuing migration and provisional certificates, and from the revaluation of answer books.
- Hostel and Non-Teaching Departments: Revenues are generated from hostel services and various non-teaching departments.
- Miscellaneous Receipts: Additional funds come from garden income, sale of forms, recovery and various other sources.
- Government Grants: The University receives substantial grants from the State Government, along with specific funding from the central government agencies.

Financial Management and Resource Utilization

The financial management system is designed to ensure the efficient and transparent utilization of funds. The Finance Committee, led by the Vice-Chancellor, plays a crucial role in examining budget estimates, reviewing accounts, and advising on financial matters. The University follows a rigorous budgeting process, where a committee of senior faculty prepares budget estimates based on departmental needs. The Finance Committee scrutinizes these estimates, ensuring they align with the University's strategic objectives.

University of Rajasthan adheres to a detailed accounts manual that outlines rules for expenditure, ensuring transparency and efficiency. Funds are allocated to various heads, including salaries, examination expenses, maintenance, and research grants, all monitored through a centralized system to prevent overspending.

Through a strategic approach to fund mobilization and resource management, UoR continues to support its mission of academic excellence, research innovation, and infrastructural development.

The institution regularly conducts Internal and External Financial Audits

The University of Rajasthan has a robust financial auditing system in place to ensure transparency, accountability, and compliance with financial regulations. The university conducts both internal and external audits to maintain accurate financial records and ensure proper utilization of resources across its operations.

The budget of the University is prepared in accordance with the provisions outlined in Volume 3, Chapter 48, Ordinance 385 and 385A, with audits conducted under various heads, including the maintenance budget, income and expenditure of constituent colleges, specific activities, and accounts related to sponsored projects sanctioned by funding agencies like UGC, MHRD, SAP, DST, and ICSSR.

The internal audit system at the university is overseen by an Audit Cell, comprised of permanently deputed accounts service employees from the Government of Rajasthan. This cell ensures that the financial processes across constituent colleges and departments comply with regulatory guidelines and that any discrepancies are promptly addressed. A separate cell also ensures compliance with audit reports from the Accountant General (AG) and the Local Fund Audit Department (LFAD).

Several types of Audits are conducted at the University of Rajasthan to ensure that financial transactions are transparent and properly documented:

- 1. CA Audit: A team of chartered accountants is hired to conduct internal audits, prepare annual accounts, and file GST and income tax returns.
- 2. Internal Audit: A team of auditors deputed by the state government under the supervision of the university's Financial Advisor conducts audits of all university units. This team reviews all financial transactions to ensure compliance and accuracy.
- 3. AG Audit: The audit team from the Accountant General's office visits the university annually to audit its financial accounts and other related matters.
- 4. LFAD Audit: The Local Fund Audit Department, Government of Rajasthan, conducts an annual audit of the financial accounts of the university's colleges and departments.

Additionally, the university has a strong external audit mechanism. Each payment is subject to pre-audit by a resident government auditor, ensuring that no payment is processed without prior verification. The utilization certificates for grants received from various funding agencies are certified by an authorized audit officer. Any objections raised during the audit are addressed before payments are finalized, ensuring timely resolution of financial discrepancies.

To resolve audit objections, the university has a mechanism in place where the concerned units provide the necessary documents and explanations to settle any discrepancies. Regular communication between the departments and the audit teams ensures that audit reports are promptly addressed and any issues are rectified in compliance with regulations.

Overall, the University of Rajasthan's audit process involves multiple layers of checks and balances, including internal audits by government-deputed auditors, external audits by AG and LFAD teams, and pre-audit processes to ensure transparency. This comprehensive auditing system ensures that all financial transactions are thoroughly reviewed, compliant with regulations, and properly documented, fostering financial accountability and integrity within the university.

B. GREEN & CLEAN DRIVE: Nurturing a Sustainable Future

In a world facing the unprecedented consequences of environmental degradation, initiatives aimed at restoring and preserving our natural ecosystems have never been more critical. Recognizing this urgent need, the University of Rajasthan has taken a commendable step toward sustainability by launching a Green Drive, focusing on the afforestation and beautification of its campus. The initiative taken by University of Rajasthan is not just an initiative to plant trees; rather it is a movement toward fostering conscious culture among students, faculty, and the community. By integrating environmental responsibility into the university's values, this drive aims to create a lasting impact on both the environment and the minds of future generations.

Objectives of the Drive: The primary objective of the Green Drive is to enhance the green cover on the sprawling university campus. This effort involves the plantation of native trees and plants that are well-adapted to the arid climate of Rajasthan. By focusing on indigenous species, the initiative ensures that the newly planted saplings thrive, contributing to biodiversity and creating a healthy ecosystem. Beyond tree plantations, the Green Drive aims to raise awareness about the importance of sustainability. Workshops, seminars, and eco-awareness campaigns are organized alongside the drive, educating students about the pressing environmental challenges of today, such as climate change, deforestation, and pollution. Through these educational efforts, the drive encourages individuals to adopt sustainable habits in their daily lives.

Sustaining Greenery at University of Rajasthan Certificate of Award

The University of Rajasthan was felicitated with clean & green campus award by shrishti foundation 2023-24 for extensive plantation drive and contribution to attainment of SDG 15.

Here are some of the key works of greenery undertaken by the University of Rajasthan:

Tree Plantation Drives: University of Rajasthan regularly organizes large-scale tree plantation drives as part of its commitment to environmental sustainability. Various trees, shrubs, and plants are planted across the campus to increase green cover and improve air quality. These drives often involve the active participation of students, faculty, and local organizations.

Creation of Green Zones: Dedicated green zones have been established across the campus to provide spaces where students and staff can relax in natural surroundings. These areas are filled with native trees, flower beds, and medicinal plants, creating a peaceful & eco-friendly atmosphere within the university premises.

Tree Plantation at various Units of the University

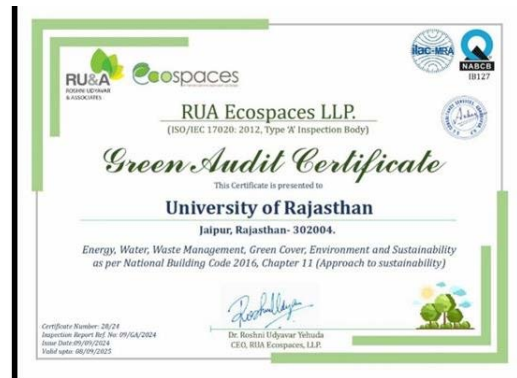

Botanical Garden: The University of Rajasthan boasts a well-maintained botanical garden that serves as an important resource for both research and education. The garden hosts a wide variety of plant species, including medicinal plants, ornamental plants, and rare native species. It acts as a living laboratory for botany students and researchers, while also enhancing the biodiversity of the campus.

Rainwater Harvesting and Irrigation Systems: To maintain the greenery on campus and ensure water conservation, the University of Rajasthan has implemented rainwater harvesting systems. These systems help in recharging groundwater and provide an eco-friendly irrigation solution to sustain the university's green areas.

Eco-Friendly Landscapes: The University has taken steps to design its landscapes in an environmentally conscious manner. Lawns, green spaces, and gardens are strategically located to reduce heat and energy consumption while enhancing the natural beauty of the campus. Drought-resistant plants have been chosen to minimize water usage.

Sustainable Energy Consumption:

- a. Solar Energy: The importance of energy efficiency and conservation in the University was realized, so a MOU was signed under the Smart City Project to install solar power panels at 7 different locations. A total of 950 KW of electricity is being produced.
- b. LED Bulbs: Wastage and profligacy of energy are prevented by the use of LED bulbs and pasting stickers like “Save electricity”, and “Switch off lights/fans when not in use” in the classrooms, hostels, seminar halls, administrative block, etc.
- c. Solar Water Heater: One hundred solar water heaters installed in the boys' and girls' hostels are being efficiently maintained every year. Installation of solar water heaters has proved to be an efficient way to meet the everyday requirements of the students without incurring any fuel costs.
- d. Green Building Practices: Several new constructions and renovations within the University are designed with eco-friendly practices in mind. The incorporation of green building principles, such as using energy-efficient materials and ensuring natural ventilation, contributes to the campus's overall sustainability efforts.

- e. Composting and Organic Waste Management: In alignment with its green initiatives, the University of Rajasthan has facilitated composting methods to manage organic waste generated on campus with the help of various departments. The compost is used to nourish the university's gardens, reducing the need for chemical fertilizers and promoting sustainable waste management practices.

- f. Collaboration with Environmental Organizations: The University collaborates with local NGOs and environmental groups to promote awareness about environmental issues and sustain its green initiatives. These collaborations often involve joint effort sin tree plantation, awareness campaigns, and educational workshops related to environmental conservation.
- g. Student Involvement in Sustainability Programs: Students at the University of Rajasthan are actively encouraged to take part in green initiatives. Many environmental clubs and societies organize awareness drives, eco-friendly campaigns, and projects aimed at promoting a greener campus. This involvement Student Involvement in Sustainability Programs.

University Garden and Nursery

The nursery, situated on an expansive 4-bigha plot, serves as a vibrant and flourishing centre for horticulture. This well-established facility is renowned for its extensive collection of both decorative and shade plants, encompassing a diverse range of approximately 100 to 150 species. To support its operations, the nursery is equipped with essential infrastructure designed to ensure smooth functioning and efficient management. The facility relies on two borewells, two water tanks, and a well to maintain adequate irrigation. This robust water management system is crucial for sustaining the health and vitality of the extensive plant collection. The nursery also includes three office rooms and two storage rooms. A guard room is also strategically placed on the premises, providing round-the-clock surveillance and protection.

The nursery is not only a centre of horticultural excellence but also an economically significant enterprise. Its annual income ranges from 2 to 5 lakh rupees, reflecting its role as a major player in the local plant market. By offering a wide array of plants at competitive prices, the nursery maintains an extensive and cost-effective inventory, making it an attractive destination for plant buyers and enthusiasts.

One of the highlights of the nursery's annual calendar is its prestigious chrysanthemum exhibition. This highly anticipated event, held once a year, garners considerable attention from the community and beyond. It is graced by distinguished guests, including the Governor, Ministers, and the Vice Chancellor, who often serve as the chief guest. The exhibition showcases the nursery's commitment to horticultural excellence and its role in promoting plant cultivation and appreciation within the campus, enhancing its reputation as a hub of botanical innovation and community engagement.

USIC: UNIVERSITY SCIENCE INSTRUMENTATION CENTRE

The University Science Instrumentation Centre (USIC) at the University of Rajasthan, established in the late 1970s with initial support from the University Grants Commission (UGC), plays a crucial role in academic and industrial research by providing advanced instrumentation facilities. The Centre's primary objectives are to house high-end research instruments and offer specialized instrumentation services for spectral, thermal, chemical, and micro structural analysis. It supports internal and external researchers, including faculty, scholars, and students, with critical tools for scientific research.

The USIC is equipped with sophisticated instruments such as SQUID, SEM, TEM, GC Mass spectrometer, LC Mass spectrometer, and FTIR spectrometer. These instruments cater to the needs of University Science departments and other institutions for research in areas like cancer research, virology, nanotechnology, and biotechnology. They are also available for future use by industry.

The Centre is dedicated to enhancing the quality of scientific publications and promoting experimental research. Its thrust areas include nonmaterial characterization and the magnetization of Nano and bulk materials. USIC's infrastructure features major research facilities.

Vision

Scientific instruments may be usefully regarded as the capital goods of scientific research. That is to say, the conduct of scientific research generally requires some antecedent investment in specific equipment to enhance the ability to observe and measure specific categories of natural phenomena. In due course of time, UOR-USIC may play its role in enhancing quality publications and also encourage more people to go for experimental research for practical applications.

STUDY CENTRES

CENTRE FOR JAIN STUDIES

On the auspicious occasion of Lord Mahaveer's 2500th Nirvana Mahotsava, the Centre for Jain Studies was established in 1974 and a Chair was founded for promoting research work in Jainism. The Centre has a missionary zeal to sponsor and promote research in Jain Studies and other aspects of Comparative Religions and Culture.

At the time of the establishment of the Centre the University had taken a decision that Jainology be treated more as an area of research and the main purpose for establishing the chair should be to encourage the study of Jain religion and ethics in the related departments i.e. Sanskrit, Hindi, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology, Political Science, Public Administration and History, already existing in the University, and conduct and direct research in the field of Jainology.

To attract the diversified Jainological studies the University also accommodated the study of source material, ideas, thoughts, literature and history of Jainism to be studied as special papers in the regular courses of the Department of the Sanskrit, Philosophy and History with the co-operation and guidance of the person occupying the chair in Jainology. In view of this decision the PG classes in Jain Studies are being taken with PG departments of History, Sanskrit and Philosophy of the University and the faculty of the Centre has been associated with them ever since the establishment of the Centre.

INFONET CENTRE

The Infonet Centre at the University of Rajasthan is the technical backbone, managing the Campus Wide Area Network, Wi-Fi Network, website maintenance, mail servers, result servers, and research servers. It plays a crucial role in providing access to digital resources and advancing the university's technology infrastructure using open-source software and the Linux-Apache-MySQL/Perl/PHP (LAMP) platform. The Centre collaborates with the Campus Wide Area Network (CWAN), known as RUN (Rajasthan University Network), which uses Gigabit Ethernet Technology with Optical Fiber Backbone for high-speed connectivity across the campus, and the National Knowledge Network (NKN), which offers ultra-high-speed internet to institutions across India. The Centre ensures compliance with NKN policies to support advanced studies and research. Its goal is to enhance academic excellence and facilitate knowledge dissemination, aiming for seamless access to resources and enriched academic experiences. Best practices include in-house web application development and maintenance, continuous improvement of applications, and securing services with SSL and TLS encryption. The Centre's infrastructure features Blade Servers and SAN solutions for data management, modern networking with RUN and NKN, and facilities for academic functions like video conferencing.

University Web Servers

One of the core features of Infonet Centre's services is that all of its websites are SSL and TLS enabled. SSL stands for Secure Sockets Layer, while TLS stands for Transport Layer Security. Both protocols are used to encrypt data that is transmitted over the internet, providing an extra layer of security against hackers and other cyber threats. SSL and TLS are widely used across the internet, and they have become the de facto standard for securing web traffic. Infonet Centre's SSL and TLS-enabled websites ensure that all data transmitted between the user and the server is encrypted, providing a secure connection that is resistant to eavesdropping and tampering. NATIONAL SERVICE SCHEME (NSS)

Launched on September 24, 1969, by Union Education Minister Dr. V.K.R.V. Rao, the National Service Scheme (NSS) began in 37 universities across India. NSS is designed to be student-led, promoting both student and teacher involvement in national development through social service. It is implemented at the university level to encourage student participation. The University of Rajasthan hosts 30 NSS units with 3000 volunteers and 30 Programme Officers.

NSS units are distributed as follows:

S.N.	Campus/ College	Units
1.	University Campus	03
2.	University Maharaja College	04
3.	University Maharani College	09
4.	University Commerce College	08
5.	University Rajasthan College	08
6.	University Law College	01

Co-ordinator: Prof. R. N. Sharma

NSS aims to extend higher education by engaging students in community service and addressing the lack of awareness about village and slum problems among educated youth. The objectives include understanding the community, solving problems, developing social responsibility, applying practical solutions, acquiring leadership skills, and fostering national integration.

The NSS motto, "NOT ME BUT YOU," reflects the importance of selfless service and considering others' perspectives. The NSS symbol, based on the Konark Sun Temple's 'Rath' wheel, represents continuous progress and social transformation. The NSS badge signifies readiness for service and high spirits.

NSS Day is observed on September 24 each year. NSS activities are divided into Regular Activities and Special Camping Programmes. Regular activities involve community service projects, while Special Camping Programmes include 7-day camps in adopted villages or urban slums. Volunteers are expected to participate actively. Regular activities include orientation, campus projects, and community service in rural and urban areas. Volunteers also assist during emergencies and national events. Best practices involve proper unit allocation, diverse volunteer enrollment, and maintaining financial and project records. NSS projects focus on environmental conservation, health, women's status, social service, relief work, education, and more.
